Department Store Sales Increased

ST. LOUIS (U.S. —) — Department Store sales in St. Louis last week jumped 14 percent above the same week of 1954, largely because of the difference in the Easter period.

The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis said sales last week at the second post-war peak in the year were larger primarily because the corresponding week of 1954 was the first week after the Easter holiday.

The Little Rock, Ark., area reported the biggest gain — 50 per cent — in the week ending April 10, according to the St. Louis office. The gain in Louisville, Ky., 9 per cent; in Memphis and 19 per cent in eight other cities.

WASHINGTON 14 — Special Ambassador J. Lawton Collins hurried back today to his post in South Vietnam where a civil war battered by government and rebel forces' rapping.

He wound up a week of urgent view of the Vietnamese outlook for a peaceful future with the secretary of State Dulles late yesterday.

As he left by plane, Collins was urged to be under instructions to continue supporting the government of Premier Ngo Dinh, which is locked in a bloody battle with the forces of the North army, fighting broke out while Collins was in Washington reporting on assurances which already were being made.

The State Department was understood to be hoping that the ongoing would end quickly, lest it plunge South Viet Nam into chaos.

on the floor. Their amendment would limit imports to 10 per cent of domestic consumption. In 1954, the United States consumed 13.6 per cent of U. S. consumption. Executives of several of the nation's largest oil companies told the Senate that if the amendment is passed they would voluntarily hold oil imports to the 1954 percentage. Carlson said it is up to these companies to practice "industrial frugality" and follow through.

On the floor, a cabinet committee named by Eisenhower recommended that shipments of oil into this country be held to 1954 production levels voluntarily. "If this is not done," the cabinet said, "it will be necessary to resort to import controls that should maintain the level of production to avoid the necessity of governmental intervention."

Carlson said he is relying on the voluntary nature of the oil firm heads and the cabinet committee report. In his belief that imports will be held

DOFOTHY DIX

Wife Dream of Past

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married eight years and have two children. However, I do not love my husband. Married him for love because I broke up with the boy I really loved and still do. He told me he would never marry anyone else, and he has.

My husband and I have many disagreements. Right now we are arguing about which church our children should be brought up in.

Answer: You should a good husband and two children after because you still see yourself as a woman. However, I am becoming very nervous. I am the only woman who has a son not in her heart for a former sweetheart but fortunately there are few women who consider breaking a home just to taste again the thrill of adolescence.

See Your Clergyman

When your heart and mind are so full of wrong thoughts it seems ironic that you would pick up religion as a source of argument.

However, since you are sufficiently interested in your church to quarrel over it, I suggest you talk this problem over with your clergyman.

As to seeing your former friend, getting a keg of gunpowder for diversion would be safer. Your sweethearts has absolutely no place in your life today. Get him out of your mind by concentrating on the present. With a doctor to improve your physical self and a therapist to care for your emotional needs, I think you'll overcome dreams of the past.

Dear Miss Dix: I'm a woman of 58 with married children and am married to a man of 69. He was a bachelor. He just doesn't seem to care for me. He never talks to me. I ask a question he has a snarl answer. He doesn't care for my children and barely civil to them when they visit us. He gives me very little money and seems to begrudge even that. I don't know if he is married to a statue for all the companionship he gives me.

Answer: Stop back to back into the past and you'll find a clue to your husband's behavior. As a bachelor, he did exactly as he pleased. He had no one to question him, no one to defer to, and most of all, he had complete charge of his own money. No one had any claim on it. If you expect a man of 69 to change established habits of many years, you really anticipate a miracle.

Surely you were acquainted with the characteristics before the wedding. If life with him is intolerable, as it seems to be, you'd be better off to leave him. You can't get a job, though it will be a bit difficult, and I'm sure your husband will help you. Contentment is a very precious thing. Regain it if you can.

Dear Miss Dix: Two years ago, back up to the west, through eastern Kansas, the Pinkertons, on the trail by the C. & N. P. and the Adams Express Company while in hours of the robbery, pushed the older keep the gentleness of the west. It was only when they succeeded in losing the detectives in the Missouri River, south of the crossing and recrossing the Big Muddy three times in 24 hours that they were finally able to slip safely into Clay County.

On July 24, just 12 hours after the wedding and before the wedding, a second C. & N. P. train passed over the identical, repainted section of track. You Adair, Frank and Cole, it would appear, had made a right turn at 8 a. m. they wanted, not the 8 a. m. train, but the 8 a. m. train.

marriage so closely, you will probably have a hint as to his staying powers. Naturally you don't want the same thing happening to you. Discuss the matter frankly with Gene and take your time about any renewal of the old ties.

Dear Miss Dix: My neighbors are very difficult to get along with. I recently moved to this community and find myself surrounded by people of various religions. Each one wants to talk about his own beliefs and the rest really aren't interested. I have my own church affiliations and would prefer to discuss other topics.

Answer: You will often find people whose conversational material is limited to the things intimately concerning their own lives. Books, nature, world events, or sometimes even local activities are brought up, they are mute. While it is interesting to hear about other people's beliefs, other subjects can be equally entertaining. If you cannot succeed in swifter topics, occasionally you'll better make some new friends. The present group is quite minute little to your group's outlook.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married eight years and have two children. However, I do not love my husband. Married him for love because I broke up with the boy I really loved and still do. He told me he would never marry anyone else, and he has.

For a long time I have been planning on seeing him just to talk and see how we feel about each other. Do you think it would be wrong to see him and I have many children brought up in mine or his. So, with all these difficulties, I am becoming very nervous. My husband and I have many children brought up in mine or his. So, with all these difficulties, I am becoming very nervous.

Answer: Why should a good husband and two children suffer because you still see yourself as a woman? I am becoming very nervous. My husband and I have many children brought up in mine or his. So, with all these difficulties, I am becoming very nervous.

Dear Miss Dix: I'm a woman of 58 with married children and am married to a man of 69. He was a bachelor. He just doesn't seem to care for me. He never talks; if I ask a question he has a snarl answer. He doesn't care for my children and barely civil to them when they visit us. He gives me very little money and seems to begrudge even that. I know I am well as married to a statue for all the companionship he gives me.

Answer: Stop back a bit into the past and you'll find a clue to your husband's behavior. As a bachelor, he did exactly as he pleased. He had no one to question him, so one to defer to, and most of all, he had complete charge of his own money, no one had any claim on it. If you expect a man of 69 to change established habits of many years, you really anticipate a miracle.

Surely you were acquainted with the characteristics before the wedding. If life with him is intolerable, as it seems to be, you'd be better off leaving him. You can't get a job, though it will be a bit difficult, and I'm sure your family will help you. Contentment is a very precious thing. Regain it if you can.

Dear Miss Dix: Two years ago, back up to the west, through eastern Kansas covering a distance of 600 miles. The Pinkertons, on the trail by the C. & S. P. and the Adams Express Company while in hours of the robbery, pushed the older keep the gentleness of the west. It was only when they succeeded in losing the detectives in the Missouri River, south of the crossing and recrossing the Big Muddy three times in 24 hours that they were finally able to slip safely into Clay County.

On July 24, just 12 hours after the wedding and before the wedding, a second C.R. & P. train passed over the identical, repainted section of track. You Adair, Frank and Cole, it would appear, had made a slight change in the 8 a.m. they wanted, not the 8 a.m. they wanted, not the 8 a.m. they wanted, not the 8 a.m. they wanted.

Three Killed in Car-Truck Accident

LEBO, Kan. —Three men were killed in a car-truck collision near here last night on Highway 50-South.

The highway patrol identified the victims as William Martin Christian, 24, Lane, Kan.; Melvin Osborn, 24, Ashland, Kan.; and Jack Stenger, age unknown of Wichita.

Jerry Brown, Wichita, received minor injuries.

The highway patrol said all four were in a car traveling west when the collision occurred with a semi-trailer truck traveling east.

The driver of the truck, Virgil
Lee Williams of Boonville, Mo., and Howard Smith, also of Boonville, escaped with slight injuries.

Smith, the owner of the truck was asleep in the vehicle. He was thrown out of the truck and over the car onto the pavement.

The U. S. harvest of corn exceeds three billion bushels a year.

BIG PROBLEMS FROM LITTLE TRAINS GROW—Railroad tycoon Howard Bigelow has a rail problem, and if it isn't solved to his satisfaction he says he'll pick up his trains and track and go home. He could do it, too, for his trains are miniatures and his track is in a Schenectady, N. Y. park is only 270 feet long. The problem is that Schenectady officials want Bigelow, shown above, to expand his track—and give the city more of his profits. Bigelow says no.

PRESCOTT NEWS

Mrs. Jack Leslie Hostess to
W. M. U. Circle 3

Mrs. Jack Leslie was hostess to Circle 3 of the W. M. U. of the First Baptist Church at her home on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. J. W. Grimes voiced the opening prayer after which the business was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. J. H. Langley.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Nat Wooley and the study on "All the World in the Word" was led by Mrs. Langley.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served a delectable sandwich course to the 10 members present.

Miss Francisco Entertains
Needlecraft Club

The home of Miss Elizabeth Francisco was beautifully decorated with arrangements of Dutch lilies, pansies and narcissuses on Tuesday evening when she entertained the Needlecraft Club.

A pleasant evening was spent visiting and serving.
The hostess served frosted punch and cookies.

Out of town members present were Miss Opal Daniel and Mrs.
Lee McCain and a guest, Mrs.
Hazel Pritchard all of Hope.
